CC Docket No. 93-162

MOTION FOR EXTENSION OF TIME
TO FILE DIRECT CASE AND REBUTTALS

Cincinnati Bell Telephone Company (CBT) respectfully requests an extension of time to file its direct case in the above-captioned matter. In its Order Designating Issues For Investigation released July 23, 1993,¹ the Common Carrier Bureau (Bureau) directed CBT and other local exchange carriers to file their direct cases on August 13, 1993. In order to compile the voluminous materials necessary to respond fully to the issues identified by the Bureau and provide the requested information, CBT requests an extension until September 14, 1993 to file its direct case.

The Bureau is requesting extensive information from CBT that involves almost every aspect of CBT's business, including network engineering and operations, real estate management, risk management, regulatory affairs, and billing/collection. Further, the information requested must be presented in a non-standard format with "a complete explanation of how the costs for each item were derived, including relevant worksheets and source listings."²

In addition to the amount of information requested and the degree of coordination among various CBT departments necessary to furnish the information, many of the CBT personnel responsible for gathering the requested data are involved in other Commission proceedings, including the Local Transport tariff filing and CBT's direct case in the 800 data base docket, as well as various state proceedings.

CBT also respectfully requests an extension of 30 days to file rebuttals to oppositions to its direct case. The 10-day period provided for rebuttals is inadequate to respond fully to the numerous parties that can be expected to file oppositions. Because CBT's (and each of the other subject LEC's) special access interconnection tariff provisions are subject to an accounting order, no party could be harmed by a reasonable extension of time.

²Order at p. 10.

CBT recognizes the need for the Bureau to complete its investigation in a timely manner.
However, for the reasons stated herein, CBT respectfully requests an extension until September 14, 1993 to present its direct case in this docket and an extension of 30 days to file rebuttals.

Respectfully submitted,

FROST & JACOBS
